

Comic Strip

1. Select a favourite part from a fiction text that you have just finished reading or decide on the facts you would like to share from a non-fiction text.
2. Think about how you could divide your selection into six sections to create a comic strip of this piece of text.
3. On the BLM, draw and colour the six events or facts in the six boxes.
4. Include speech or thought bubbles to help tell the story.
5. Write a title of the comic strip on the space provided.
6. Include at the top of each box, a brief description of what is happening and/or use speech or thought bubbles to help tell the story.

Tip: Remember that each comic strip should be created so that the reader will understand what is happening in the story.
